Year 6 Newsletter 18

Week ending: Friday, 23rd January 2026

This week in computing, Year 6 worked on finding information in databases. The girls learned what a database is and how it is used, and practised using filters and sorting tools to locate specific information efficiently. They did a great job exploring how digital tools can help organise and retrieve data accurately.

Sorting to Find Information

The sort tool can organise numerical data from smallest to largest or largest to smallest. It can organise text data alphabetically from A to Z or Z to A.

In Science, Year 6 conducted research to develop their understanding about the naturalists, and the work they do. They explored the work of three influential Naturalists of modern time.

In maths this week, the girls assessed their knowledge of ratio by completing their review units. The girls were confidently able to apply their skills to word problems and use bar models to show and explain their working out. The new topic we have started now is Algebra.

SATs Evening

Next week on Wednesday, 27th January, all Year 6 parents are invited to our SATs evening. (starting at 4 pm). Please come along with your daughter and find out what the expectations are for SATS in Maths, Reading and GPS. You will have an opportunity to try some of the questions, as well as getting tips and advice from English and Maths experts! Please check parent mail for further detail .
